HAYS BECOMES POSTMASTER

FARLEY SENDS WORD TO TAKE POST AT ONCE

Orville Trone to Resume His Duties as Assistant to Postmaster

HAD BEEN ACTING

Takes Office 17 Days After Endorsement

Hulse Hays, N. Court-st., became Circleville's postmaster, Friday, after receiving instructions from Postmaster General James A. Farley to assume the office at once.

Mr. Hays replaces Orville Trone who has been acting postmaster since George P. Foresman, Republican, resigned. Mr. Trone, being under civil service, returns immediately to his former post as assistant postmaster.

No changes will be made in the roster of the office, all employees being under civil service.

CHANGE NOV. 1

The new postmaster was to be sworn in before a notary public sometime during the day. His regime, however, will not start according to records until next Wednesday, Nov. 1. It is the usual custom as far as such offices are concerned to make changes either at the close of the quarter's business or at the conclusion of the month. Mr. Trone will complete the office's reports up to Nov. 1 after which time they will be under Mr. Hays' supervision.

Mr. Hays was not certain, Friday, what bond would be required of him. Mr. Foresman was postmaster under $17,000 bond and Mr. Trone, who had been acting postmaster, provided bond of $19,000. This detail is expected to be taken care of prior to Nov. 1.

ENDORSED OCT. 10

Mr. Hays takes over the office 17 days after being voted the endorsement of the Pickaway-co. Democratic executive committee. He defeated K. J. Herrmann and C. K. Hunsicker for the committee's support. One week after the committee voted Congressman Mel G. Underwood notified Mr. Hays that his name was being sent to Mr. Farley for appointment.

There are 19 persons connected with the local post office including the postmaster, assistant postmaster, five city carriers, five clerks and seven rural carriers. There are seven rural routes out of the local office the longest of which is about 40 miles. The others are between 26 and 30 miles.

Another change in postmaster-ship will be made in the county effective next Wednesday when Thomas B. Gephart, Deercreek-town Democrat, succeeds Bertus H. Moore in that office. Mr. Moore has resigned and Mr. Gephart has been appointed acting postmaster until civil service examination is held and a permanent postmaster duly selected.

Mrs. Sarah Funk, 90, well known New Holland woman, is reported in serious condition in Chillicothe city hospital suffering from injuries she received in an automobile wreck Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Funk was pinned in the auto with George Lump, New Holland, when its front fender was hooked by that of the passing car of D. E. Dennewitz, Chillicothe. The wreck happened on the Londonderry-pk.

Mrs. Funk's daughters, Mrs. Charles Anderson, 63, of Columbus, suffered a wrenched back and had several ribs fractured, and Miss Elizabeth Funk, New Holland, suffered torn ligaments in her left shoulder. Both also suffered from bruises and shock.

FORD'S RIGHT CHALLENGED

General Johnson Says Motor Magnate Has No Right To Bid On U. S. Work.

HITS AGENTS, TOO

"Ford In Direct Violation of Recovery Act."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Henry Ford already is in direct violation of the automobile code and is not eligible to make any bids for government contracts, either through the main company or any agencies, in the opinion of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, National Recovery administrator.

He based this opinion on the fact that Edsel Ford told him that the company would never consent to collective bargaining. "Edsel Ford told me," Johnson said at a press conference today, "that the company would never put into effect anything looking toward collective bargaining with employees. I don't think Ford is eligible to make bids for any government contracts. From the very beginning he has stated he is not in sympathy with the National Recovery act or with any phase of the National Recovery program."

"As to whether or not an agent for the Ford company who has subscribed to the President's Re-employment Agreement has the right to bid, I answer emphatically no."

"I have said many times that a million dollar concern which does not subscribe for a Blue Eagle cannot hide behind a $10,000 company that does subscribe, no matter if this small company is an agent for the big company or not."

2 YOUTHS FACING ROSS-CO CHARGE

Brungs and Fowler Held For Taking Lanterns, Removing Road Barricades.

Fred Brungs, Pearl alley, and Chester Fowler, Weldon alley, will face charges in Ross-co of stealing red lanterns and knocking over barricades on Route 80, in Colerain-twp.

As a result of the vandalism of the youths a serious traffic hazard was prevailing because of construction of a new bridge.

Brungs and Fowler were arrested Thursday evening after an investigation by Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Officer William McCrady and Deputy Ben Rout of Ross-co.

Fowler had allegedly confessed his part in the destruction but Brungs denies his guilt.

With their arrest theft of 15 bushels of corn from the R. T. Liston property is cleared up.

Fowler confessed to the theft and told officers where the corn had been sold in Ross-co.

Charles Kendrick, Ross-co highway superintendent, will file charges against the youths.

WHITE URGES BRICKER HELP IN OHIO PROBE

Governor Takes Official Cognizance of Lobbyist Investigation

MAKES STATEMENT

Hoskins Following Textbook Price Study

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—Gov. George White today officially took cognizance of the investigation of alleged unethical practices of legislative lobbyists.

The governor addressed a communication to Attorney General John W. Bricker, requesting his aid in the probe now being conducted by the senate textbook committee and by the Franklin-co. prosecutor.

"Persistent rumors are current," the governor told Bricker, "indicating the possibility that pernicious and unlawful practices have been resorted to by some persons, in order to influence members of the legislature in the performance of their duties."

He directed the attorney general's attention to the investigation of Donald J. Hoskins, Franklin-co. prosecutor, and of the senate textbook committee.

"These investigations," he said, "should be thorough, to the extent that the public may know all the facts, and the guilty, if any, be punished."

"It appears that a complete investigation may lead to inquiries outside of Franklin-co. Owing to the fact that the jurisdiction of Prosecutor Hoskins is limited by law to Franklin-co., the assistance of the attorney general's office may become necessary in order to properly carry on this work."

The matter is of such importance to the state at large, the governor asserted, that "a thorough-going investigation must be made in the most effective manner possible."

STATE LEADS BANK'S AREA

More Farm Loans Approved In Ohio Than Kentucky, Tennessee or Indiana.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—The federal government through the land bank approved loans to Ohio farmers of $9,179,900 to Oct. 25, F. L. Kerr, of the local branch of the Louisville Federal Land bank, announced today.

Ohio, he pointed out, has had more loans approved than any of the four states under the jurisdiction of the Louisville bank. Other states in this district are Kentucky, Indiana and Tennessee.

Of the total loans approved for this state, $7,214,400 will come from the regular Federal Land Bank fund, Kerr said, while the remaining $1,965,500 was approved under the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act which placed $200,000,000 at the disposal of the Land Bank Commissioner for loans on first or second mortgages.

FIGURES QUOTED

Applications of 2,223 Ohio farmers for regular land bank loans, available only on first mortgages, and of 1,529 others for the so-called "commissioner loans" have been approved.

Already this month, Kerr said, the applications of 1,420 Ohio farmers for federal land bank loans totaling $4,752,300, 1,302 "commissioner loans" amounting to $1,711,000, have been approved. He expected loan approvals next month to equal those sums.

Most of the appraisals on applications from Ohio farmers have been completed, he said, and those remaining will be finished by next week.

DAYTON, Oct. 27.—Two youths, suspected of having participated in at least two Indiana bank robberies within the last ten days and believed to have connections with the notorious John Dillinger gang, were held by police here today for questioning.

The youths, who gave their names as Raymond Earl Randall, 18, of Chicago, and Albert Johnson Thomas, 19, of Opelousas, La., were taken into custody in a downtown restaurant here after one of them had attempted to draw a revolver on a detective.

Police said the youths answered the description of the gunmen who robbed the Madoc and Filmore, Ind., banks recently. Photographs and fingerprints of the boys were being rushed to Indiana state police and federal authorities at Washington to check on their identities.

At the time of their arrest, police said, the youths had about $400 and a revolver in their possession.

Deadline for Payment of Real and Tangible Taxes Now Nov. 30

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—The state tax commission has extended the deadline for payment of real and tangible property taxes from October 20 to November 30, it was announced today.

In extending the deadline, the commission acted on a recently enacted law of the Legislature which moved the date up to October 20, and gave the commission authority to extend it.

Many county treasurers throughout the state notified the commission that the March banking holiday had brought about strangulation of funds of many taxpayers and made it impossible for them to pay their taxes by the October date.

"Close, Shorten Schools Bad Economy," Hamilton

"It is false economy to close or shorten school terms," said Howard Hamilton, secretary of the College of Arts of Ohio State University, when speaking before the Rotary Club Thursday noon.

"We cannot interrupt the education of children without a great loss," he asserted, "for when the regular term of school is interrupted we cannot start again where we left off and have the same success in the proper training of the child."

"It costs more for education now than it did years ago but there are more being educated. In addition to this there are more things to be taught and it costs more to keep up with the times," he continued.

5 AMERICANS GAIN FREEDOM

Spanish Court Votes 4-3 To Liberate Persons Held For Guard Assault.

PALMA, Majorca, Oct. 27.—Five Americans acquitted by a court martial of charges of beating a civil guard today awaited approval of the verdict by the auditor of the Spanish military division embracing this island.

The court martial freed them after deliberating five hours, by a vote of four to three. The decision apparently hinged on the belief the Americans had undergone sufficient punishment by languishing seven weeks in jail when bail was refused them.

The decision followed a demand by the prosecutor that they be sentenced to six years and a day each in prison. Three of the captains composing the court martial favored sentencing all five defendants. The other four judges decided in favor of acquittal.

The prosecutor claimed the Americans in their defense falsified facts, stating it was untrue they did not understand the guard when he ordered them to put up their hands, and that it was untrue they were ignorant of the fact officers against civil guards are severely punished in Spain and her possessions.

The defendants were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of Springfield, Mass.; R. F. Mead of New York; E. W. Blodgett of Stamford, Conn.; and Rutherford Fullerton of Columbus, Ohio.

Charles Ware, 42, of Piketon, Steps Into Path of Henry S. Ballard's Car

DIES IN HOSPITAL

Fatal Accident Happens South of Twin Elms

Charles Ware, 42, an itinerant barber of Piketon, died Friday morning in Berger hospital of injuries he suffered Thursday afternoon when he stepped into the path of the automobile driven by Henry S. Ballard, prominent Columbus attorney.

The accident happened several hundred yards south of the Twin Elms at South Bloomfield.

Ware was walking south on the west side of the road in the company of John Barnes, of Berwyn, Ill. The men had been in Toledo and were hitch-hiking to Piketon.

STEPPED INTO ROAD

Barnes told Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell, who investigated, that Mr. Ballard sounded his horn but instead of stepping off the road Ware stepped in front of the car. Barnes was not struck.

Mr. Ballard, driving south, and accompanied by Mrs. Ballard, took the injured man to Berger hospital.

Barnes signed a statement in Deputy Fissell's presence exonerating the Columbus attorney of any blame.

Investigation at the hospital disclosed Ware was suffering from compound fractures of both legs, and that he had a cut on his head. Shock is thought to have attributed greatly toward his demise.

The accident happened between 1:30 and 2 p. m. and Ware lived until 7 a. m.

The body was taken to Piketon, Friday, by a funeral director from that town.

ACTIVE BAR MEMBER

Mr. Ballard, whose office is located at 8 E. Broad-st., is well known by members of the local bar. He has appeared here in a number of cases. He is very active in Columbus fraternal and social circles.

Little damage was done when two out-of-town autos collided in front of the courthouse Thursday afternoon. One car was said to have cut-in too quickly causing the collision.

Girl Undergoes Complete Change, Now Is Like Man

Metamorphosis Puzzles Oakland, Cal., Scientists; Now Shaves Each Day.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 27.—The mysterious case of an attractive 23-year-old girl slowly undergoing an extraordinary change until she now resembles a man in many physical and psychological characteristics, puzzled scientists today at Highland hospital.

Identity of the girl was withheld.

The scientists believe the strange metamorphosis, which has transformed the soft skin of the girl so that she is now compelled to shave daily, was partially induced by the use of quack reducing remedies which destroyed the delicate balance between the thyroid and pituitary glands.

Doctors have removed the patient's thyroid gland and proposed to feed her an extract of the pituitary gland in an effort to reverse the metamorphosis from femininity to masculinity.

The girl two years ago was wholly feminine in manner and physical being. She has been a hospital patient two weeks, physicians disclosed.

TIGERS FAIL BEFORE DELAWARE'S ATTACK

Take Early Lead When Fumble is Covered, But Go To Pieces; Wilson, Colored Halfback, Is Star Rambling For Four Touchdowns; Grandview Comes to Life Defeating Bexley.

Falling to pieces after they took a 6-0 lead over Delaware, high school in the first three minutes of play, Circleville high school's Tigers had their ears pinned back in nice style in a Central Buckeye league contest Friday at Delaware. The final score was 25-6.

After the Circleville touchdown was scored that team was no longer even in the game. Delaware ran up and down the field and, although encountering opposition at some points, had no difficulty in running up the score. Thrusts through the line and sweeping end runs added to the yardage piled up by the Delawareites who lost to Grandview and Westerville in lopsided games.

Incidentally on paper Circleville was 22 points better than the Ervin Carlisle-coached 11.

FUMBLE HELPS

The Tiger score came when Delaware fumbled Gaines Hill's kickoff. Harmon covered the ball and plays by Davis and Smith took the ball over the goal, the latter scoring. A pass in a try for the extra point was bogged down. A colored halfback, Wilson proved to be the slippiest thing the Tigers have tried to grab this year. He skipped hither and yon, playing tag with the Red and Black ends, and slapping the Tiger secondary on the shoulder before tripping for many yards.

He scored all of Delaware's four touchdowns.

The Tigers were handicapped when Gaines Hill, sterling leader, was forced to leave the game because of a leg injury.

Grandview, tied 0-0 last week by the Tigers, defeated Bexley, 13-0, in another Central Buckeye contest Friday. Bexley had previously given the Tigers a 34-0 drubbing.

Officials for the Delaware-Circleville game were George Staten, of Ohio Wesleyan; Bacon, of Wabash, and McMillen of Ohio State.

'State' Papers Attack Gridiron Administration

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—Two campus publications at Ohio State University today reached over and took a smack at the Buckeye athletic department.

Both of the fibres apparently were inspired by the rout of the Buckeye football team a week ago, 13 to 0, at the hands of Michigan.

In a front page editorial, The Lantern, student campus daily, asserted that "there is no doubt in our minds that something is amiss in our athletic department with regard to football. We are not prepared to say that the fault lies wholly with Coach William. The trouble may have its origin in higher offices."

The Sun Dial, campus humor publication, took a wallop at the athletic department by declaring that "Ohio State doesn't need a new coach because it never had one to begin with. The best coach Ohio State almost had was sent to Harvard a couple of months ago."

Commenting upon the Michigan game last week, the Sun Dial article bitingly said: "They (the football team) walked out on the field, walked to catch up with the game, and in general acted like they had been doped, or returning from a jag."

The article also asserted that the Ohio State team "is the biggest inferiority complex in organized football."

The front-page editorial of the Lantern stated that the present football season can be considered a failure—regardless of the outcome of the remaining five contests.

"When the Athletic board meets to discuss the personnel and administration of the athletic department for next season, The Lantern will give reasons why it feels some changes should be made."

Robert K. Richards of Urbana, is editor of The Lantern.

Earlier, two additional street cars were bombed in the suburbs and another was bombed in the downtown section of the city. Two Spaniards were slightly hurt.

At the same time a plot of reprisal for recent communist killings was discovered in a police raid. The plot was scheduled to be carried out Nov. 7. Fernandez Paz, a naval petty officer, was arrested.

In their plea for speedy prosecution of killers, President Grau San Martin's women petitioners told him:

He asserted he was trying to speed the matter but had many other important problems.

OHIO ON 'SPOT' AS 'WILDCATS' TAKE STADIUM

Olson's Kicks Provide Problem; Great Pair of Ends Also With Squad.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—Before a homecoming crowd in Ohio Stadium Saturday, Ohio State will play Northwestern, a team which found itself last week and scored 25 points against Indiana in the last half of the game.

Last year Coach Sam Williamson's Buckeye team scored a great victory over Northwestern, thumping Coach Hanley's boys 20 to 6, and there is the possibility that Hanley will remind his players of this fact in preparing them for the Buckeyes.

Against Indiana, Northwestern played one of the greatest quarters of football ever seen in the Big Ten. Stopped in the first half by the Hoosier's hard-charging line, the Wildcats clawed through the Hoosiers and scored 22 points in the third quarter. Displaying a bewildering attack, led by a punter, a wriggling sophomore and two great ends, Northwestern outsmarted Indiana completely.

OLSON IS ACE

In Ollie Olson, Northwestern has one of the greatest kickers in Big Ten football history. Rated with Regecz of Michigan, as the best punter in the conference, Olson is also an accurate drop-kicker. His boot for point after touchdown enabled Northwestern to tie the Purdue last season. Coach Hanley not only uses the punt as a weapon but works it into his strategy. When Roy Auguston is in the lineup, either he or Olson may do the booting, and both can hit the line, giving Hanley the versatility which enabled his team to rout the Hoosiers.

The answer to the question, "Who will replace Pug Rentner?" is Harry Leeper, a sophomore from Fort Wayne, Ind., who started the Wildcats on their way against Indiana by scoring a touchdown in two plays. Taking a punt on his own half of the field, he drove back to Indiana's 25 yard line, called his own signal on the next play, and whirled through tackle for the remaining distance to the goal.

In Ed Manske and Art Jens, Northwestern has a great pair of ends, against whom even Ohio State's great tackles may not make much headway. Although Manske is generally considered to be one of the best flankers in the conference, Jens stole the show last week, blocking one Indiana punt and downing Olson's long punts near the Hoosier goal.

Doan's PILLS

A DIURETIC FOR THE KIDNEYS

"OH, PLEASE don't sit on that CHAIR!"

HARDLY a home without one . . . the chair with the shaky leg that Uncle Henry broke when he sat on it, back in 1929. (He was heavier, then.) The whole family knows about it, but for four years it has kept its place in the living room . . . a dubious decoration, a constant menace to the unsuspecting guest.

And so throughout America . . . here, in the dining room . . . there, in the bedroom or kitchen . . . an infirm company of tottery tables, spavined sideboards, and shabby chiffoniers. For the plain truth is that most of us, under pressure of circumstance, have just let our furniture go. And in those four years it has gone a long way.

Sooner or later something will have to be done about those worn-out household goods. And now is the great opportunity. For furniture prices today are lower than they are ever likely to be again!

Consider the facts since 1929 the furniture manufacturers have had so little demand for their products that furniture has almost ceased to have any basic value at all. Yet furniture should, like everything else, have a true basic value—a value sufficient to yield to its maker and his fellow workmen a fair amount to live upon.

It is one of the chief aims of the NRA to restore value to the common things of life . . . a man's labor . . . a manufacturer's product . . . a citizen's property. The Government is trying to make everything worth something again.

Furniture is one of those things. Under the NRA furniture code, all labor values, all raw material values, are going up. Pay rolls have advanced 57%. Lumber 41%. Upholstery fabrics have advanced 48 1/2%. Therefore furniture must go up, too. Furniture is on the way to regaining its rightful value as a commodity.

This process is not yet complete. Retail prices on present stocks of furniture are still extremely low. Now is the time to buy.

UPTURN ITEM NO. 1

Statistics of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers show that production rose from 67% of normal capacity for the week ended August 5 to 114% during the week ended September 2. August retail sales were uniformly more successful than for several late summer seasons.

OHIO SHERIFFS RUSHING RADIO CHAIN EFFORTS

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—Spurred by the recent slaying of Sheriff Jess Sarber of Allen-co, and the escape of the gang of desperadoes which participated in the crime, the Buckeye State Sheriffs' Association is speeding forward in its plans to establish a radio chain throughout Ohio to combat lawlessness.

A campaign will be launched in northeastern Ohio, starting Jan. 1, to finance a radio station with headquarters probably in Canton. Opha Moore, executive secretary of the association, announced here.

Meanwhile, word was being awaited by the association from the Federal Radio Commission concerning the association's first station which will be established in Findlay.

The commission will rule on frequency and call letters for the 500-watt station at Findlay, and the apparatus should be ready for testing by Dec. 1, Moore said. The stations represent the fulfillment of a plan launched by the association several years ago.

TO COST $6,700
The contract for building of the Findlay station was awarded recently to the Western Electric Co. Cost of the apparatus will be $6,700.

The raid on the Allen-co jail, which resulted in the slaying of Sheriff Sarber, would never have happened if the radio station had been in operation, Moore declared.

"The many other incidents in the wave of crime that has hit northeastern Ohio in the last several years would not have happened either. The essential factor considered by all criminals is their getaway, and they simply couldn't make a getaway if the radio system were operating."

Half the value of the radio stations, the officers of the association believe, will be their value as "preventive insurance."

Criminals, realizing it will be impossible to escape when authorities throughout the vicinity are notified immediately by radio that a crime has taken place, will be deterred in their plans, the sheriffs claim.

Members of the association's board of trustees, which has been arranging the details concerned with establishment of the stations, are: Walter Underwood, Mansfield; Charles Green, Troy; Abe Laird, New Philadelphia; Bruce C. Pratt, Bowling Green; and C. G. Thorn, Marietta.

Underwood is chairman of the board and president of the association.

Mrs. Thurn Discusses the Serving of Guest Dinners

Dear Readers in Circleville:

So many times women in my Cooking School audiences ask me questions which require a lengthy, and personalized, answer. One such question is: "When my husband's business acquaintances come to dinner, where shall I seat the man, and his wife?"

As a rule, the woman who asks the question is one who not only must plan the dinner, but she cooks it, and serves it as well. This means that her house is run on an extremely informal basis. But she feels, nevertheless, that some rank and formality of procedure must be followed in her dining room.

Be Natural and Gracious

Actually such a housekeeper need only realize that if she is her natural, at-ease self, as gracious as she can possibly be, and as quietly efficient as good planning and experience makes possible, her guests will be happy, and the evening a success. When she announces dinner, her woman guest will probably rise and walk with her to the dining room. A few words: "Mr. Blank will you sit at my right hand, there; and Mrs. Blank, please sit at my husband's right, there," are sufficient.

The first course is on the table; a hot soup, or a chilled fruit cocktail, or a savory appetizer. When all have finished, the hostess arises, removes the serving plate, and soup plate, or cocktail glass and plate, or appetizer plate, as the case may be, and taking them from one person at a time, carries them to the kitchen. She removes the plates of the woman guest of honor first, then right on around the table until all are carried out.

Be Quick But Not Hurried
The plates for the dinner should be hot and ready in the kitchen. If she serves the dinner in the kitchen, each plate should be filled, and kept hot, then carried in two at a time, serving the woman guest of honor first, and after her right around the table.

If the plates are to be served in the dining room, the pile of hot plates may be carried in and placed before the host. He begins to serve them as soon as the sauces are placed near him, and he then passes the first filled plate to the woman guest of honor, then to the man guest of honor and on around the table until all are served.

While he is doing this, it is a good time to bring in hot rolls or bread, to re-fill water glasses, and to add final touches to the salad or dessert course in the kitchen; or to put the coffee on, and arrange the coffee tray.

These courses have been made as nearly ready as possible, so that a quick touch is all that is necessary, and the hostess need not be absent from the dining room more than a few minutes. She ought not to seem to hurry, for this is distressing to guests, although they may not show it. They can well afford not to sit quietly chatting or perhaps helping the host pass the filled plates. The lack of haste, and the readiness of all parts of the dinner, not only make the occasion one of delight to the guests, but these aids are of first importance to the hostess.

Plan Well Before

Not only should a simple but delicious dinner be planned well in advance, carefully shopped, and carefully prepared, but the appointments of the table, the serving tools and accessories should all be in their places, and perfect for the occasion.

The kitchen cookery utensils should be washed up and out of the way, as much as possible, before the dinner is served; an apron easily slipped on should hang just inside the kitchen-dining room door, so that the necessary last moments in the kitchen after the hostess is dressed for dinner, and the moments between courses when she must be in the kitchen, will be taken care of. She should slip off the apron before coming to the table, and not appear in it from the time her guests arrive.

A mirror in the kitchen, a bit of powder, a little nail file, help assure this busy woman of last minute perfection when she must be in and out of her kitchen, play hostess in the living room and dining room, and cook in the kitchen.

When dinner is finished, she might excuse herself a few moments from the living room group, and with the door closed between dining room and kitchen, quickly carry things out to the kitchen, clearing the dining room completely of any signs of dinner. The dishes of course are left until after the guests depart. Then, a last look at herself, and once more she is the hostess, and joining her husband and guests in the living room, she gives her attention to bridge or conversation, for as long as her guests remain.

In later letters I shall give suggestions for laying the table and planning easily-served menus; also suggestions for the house where there is a cook-maid, or both.

Mrs. George O. Thurn.

For the Children's Hallowe'en Party

The children's party table may be gay with crepe paper decorations. The figures on each chair back wear an easily made cap to be taken off and worn by the guests. The picket fence and centerpiece come with cut-outs and moss and other decorations in packages wherever paper novelties are sold. Note that the paper cups have seasonable cut-outs pasted on them, and the straws also wear amusing little cut-outs. The doilies under the plates are cut from crepe paper. The scheme is orange, white and black. Appropriate menus are given elsewhere on the page for children's supper or luncheon.

Menus For the Children's Parties

In giving any party for children, it is advisable to plan the refreshments so that they take the place of one of the regular daily meals. Usually supper is the most suitable time, easier for the hostess, and for the mothers who must "fetch and bring" their offsprings, and who would most certainly have another problem on their hands if the party dishes were served between meals, or late at night.

A Hallowe'en supper party for children is easily planned and with but small cost. It differs from other supper parties for youngsters in the table decorations and novelties, and possibly in the color scheme of the menu.

Decorations Are Gay
At the shops inexpensive crepe paper decorations and novelties are to be had for this holiday. A table centerpiece, small favors at each plate, and a nonsensical cap for each young guest are sufficient, but additional decorations may be used, such as cut-outs of cats, witches, Jack-o-lanterns and streamers placed elsewhere in the room. These are five-and-ten cent store novelties or found in plenty.

I keep coming back to that word "balanced" on the back of the Chesterfield package

YOU often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—top-heavy, not on an "even keel."

What you read, "Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend," means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package?
May we ask you to try Chesterfield?

Russian Recognition

AMERICAN recognition of Soviet Russia undoubtedly is near. Not unless preliminary investigation and discussion had convinced Mr. Roosevelt that Moscow was disposed to meet the terms he believes best calculated to protect America's interest would the president have invited Russia to send a representative to Washington to discuss the matter with him personally.

It is beyond dispute that sentiment on the question of recognition has undergone much change in the last few years. Much of the former opposition has disappeared. An important factor in causing this change have been the trade possibilities that would be opened up by recognition. The United States is in need of additional markets for its goods. A great demand for products such as this country can supply exists in Russia. There is a question of the ability of the Russians to pay for them. The answer is not clear, but Russia has been buying, and paying for considerable quantities of American goods during the non-recognition period. Economic and industrial conditions in the Soviet remain obscure. Some improvement does appear to be taking place. This, if it continues, will strengthen Russia's financial position.

Among the obstacles to recognition have been certain debts owing Americans under the czarist regime and which the Soviet government refused to recognize. There also was the matter of propaganda fostered by Moscow in an effort to spread Soviet doctrines in other countries.

Fear that recognition would give free rein to this in the United States has been a factor in the refusal of previous administrations to extend recognition.

These and other related matters, it is assumed, have been studied by Mr. Roosevelt and will be explored further in his discussions with the Soviet commissar for foreign affairs who will come to Washington in response to the President's invitation. It is not for the United States to deny recognition on the grounds that the Soviet form of government does not fit the ideas of Americans. Stability usually is considered in deciding the question of recognizing a new government. The present Moscow regime has been in power 16 years and seems to have demonstrated its stability, thus meeting this requirement.

The probability is that Russia, needing the prestige that diplomatic relations with this country will give it as well as wanting the material advantages that will flow out of recognition is prepared to go far in meeting America's terms.

A War-Minded World

A FLYING boat capable of raining one and one-half pound shells upon an enemy at the rate of 100 a minute has been perfected by the British Royal Air force, according to news from London.

The craft's speed is given as 132 miles an hour, and it is said to have a cruising radius of 1,500 miles. While revealing these facts, the government is closely guarding a secret feature of construction by which the gun's recoil is absorbed by the machine.

The particular value of these vessels, it is held, would be in destroying submarines, although they could render important service in other phases of warfare.

The development of this weapon, announced in the midst of disarmament discussions and the signing of peace treaties, illustrates on lightning how far the world is from a warless mind. It means that other nations will attempt to duplicate and to surpass the new British weapon. Notwithstanding that the construction secrets are closely guarded, other nations may be expected at an early date to have flying boats of equal or greater destructiveness.

Thus does the search for wholesale death-dealing instruments continue while statesmen talk peace.

THAT'S MY BOY!

by FRANCIS WALLACE
AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

SYNOPSIS

Thomas Jefferson Randolph... now a great football prospect at famous Thorndyke University... was born of humble parents. Mom and Pop, in a little Middle West factory town where he won early renown as a brilliant high school back, so much so that the great eastern college had lured him to its swanky halls. Tommy came home for Christmas, spent much of the time trying to polish household manners, did not return Easter, but during his summer vacation he caused a most profound sensation throughout critical Athens by flashing on that burg the very latest in sport togs, white knickers, flannels, et al. The neighbors are rather caustic but, as Mom explains it, "if you fly with fine birds you must wear fine feathers" referring to her boy's "millionaire college chums"... Tommy golfs during first half of his vacation; then makes himself "as hard as nails" laboring as true leader in glassworks where his father and brother, Pete, work. Pete and his girl, Steve, are planning to start a garage and marry; while Mom worries over the attitude of Florrie Johnson, neighborhood siren, towards Tommy. The latter is invited to the Country Club dance by Dorothy Whitney, daughter of the glassworks owner and the town's wealthiest man. But Mom is sore vexed when her big boy asks her to buy a corsage (what can that be?) for the delightful Dot...

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

She studied over it all night between naps; and she was still studying over it in the morning when Tommy, on his way to work, very cheerful, told her not to forget the corsage.

"What kind, Tommy? And how much?"

"I don't care—only get a nice one."

Mom was just as much in the dark as ever and she decided the only thing to do was to get dressed and go down early and tell the girl at Telling's she wanted to look at some corsages and then maybe she could pick out a nice one and have it put away till Wednesday; or maybe the girl would be nice—she was Mrs. McKeough's daughter and a friendly little thing.

Mom was walking along, still studying it over, when a horn blew right back of her and made her jump—and there was Dorothy, looking pretty as a picture at the wheel and smiling with a kind of happy light over her eyes so much that you really couldn't see the eyes; and looking at her, Mom couldn't see what any boy in his right mind could see in a thing like Florrie Johnson when a girl like Dorothy was around.

"Ride?"

Mom was flustered. "I'm just going down to Telling's." Then she was embarrassed. She might have told Dorothy—how easy it would be to just ask her what kind of a corsage she wanted and then everybody would be sure to be satisfied; but Mom couldn't bring herself to do it.

"Buying some flowers for some lucky girl, I'll bet."

Mom laughed excitedly as she fixed herself in the car. "How did you know?"

"Just guessed."

"It's an awful hard job."

"No—I'll bet I could guess what kind of a dress the girl is going to wear."

"I don't see how—but that would help."

"I'll bet she'll wear a white lace—I could even tell you what would be the best corsage for that, if my guess is right."

"I'll bet you couldn't."

"Well," Dorothy hesitated, "if I were you I'd just go in and order a corsage of lilies-of-the-valley, a small one to fit the arm."

ATLANTA

Willis Cleary and Clarence Radcliffe were business visitors in Columbus Tuesday.

James Mills and John Dunlap are comfortably domiciled together on the Mills farm. They can now sing "Home Sweet Home" and enjoy life.

Mrs. Alice Conrad, Miss Bessie Shockley and Miss Alice Adkins were recent dinner guests of Mrs. Bernice Briggs of Circleville.

Mrs. Daisy Stinson and Mrs. Mabel Hancock were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wright, of New Holland, Tuesday.

Miss Florence Cockwell, teacher in the Clarksburg school was the over night guest of Miss Mary Clements Tuesday night and attended the O. E. S. lodge at New Holland.

John Farmer Sr., and son Glenn attended the funeral of Conrad Steinhour held at his late home in Ashville last Friday.

Oakley Turner went to Columbus Tuesday morning and joined the Civilian Conservation Corps for six months. He left for Camp Knox Wednesday.

Mrs. Roy Irvin went to Springfield last week to attend the funeral of her nephew who was run down by an automobile and killed.

Mrs. Almada Bennett, Miss Annamare Russ and Miss Helen Overmeyer were Chillicothe visitors Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vaughn Sr., and Mrs. Rena Johnson motored

Tommy was even more amusing as a thorndyke freshman to Dorothy... his new manners, his awkward bows, his multi-syllabized speech.

Mom sighed happily, excitedly: "You think that would be right? Because Tommy told me to be sure and get the best."

"I'll bet it'll be the best you could get."

So Mom marched in and ordered a corsage of lilies-of-the-valley, arm size, to be delivered to Miss Dorothy Whitney on the following Wednesday. And she walked out and went on her way to Butcher Brown's with a distinct air of superiority.

Dorothy watched her go down the street and smiled; and thought how proud she was of her son; of how she had spoiled him, of how the town had spoiled him. Even Dorothy, knowing that she shouldn't, had helped to spoil him, had done her small part in the creation of the handsome idol.

Dorothy would have preferred gardenias; she had told his mother lilies-of-the-valley; they were cheaper; they would be easier on Tommy.

Easier on Tommy. Glorify Tommy, Tommy! Tommy!

Grandmother had firmly impressed upon Dorothy her social importance and the superiority of the Whitneys, per se, over any of their employees; and the old lady was so positive it was difficult not to be impressed; but while recognizing this superiority Dorothy had been able to accept Tom Randolph by the simple expedient of not admitting it—a deft distinction upon which she did not dwell despite Grandmother's vivid memory of the mentality of the boy's family. Tom had never even been aware of the problem. He had looked upon Dorothy boldly from the first and accepted their companionship with an assurance equal to her own. His superb confidence annoyed her at times; but his boldness had amused her; and it had flattered Dorothy to be squired by the high school hero.

He was even more amusing as a Thorndyke freshman, with his new manners, his awkward bows, his multi-syllabized speech. There was no harm in trying; and if Tommy, through the sheer accident of football ability, chose to work so hard at his opportunity of becoming a gentleman, it was perfectly all right with Dorothy and she wished him luck; even though there were times when he tried her patience as he was most severely testing to Muncie, Ind., to visit relatives. Mrs. Johnson remained for a longer visit.

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. French were Columbus motorists Wednesday.

Alvin Riggins, of Obetz, spent from Friday until Tuesday with friends here. Rooming at the home of C. C. Turner.

Mrs. Marie Skinner and children were the week-end guests of Noel Wright and family in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Turner and daughter spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Turner.

Miss Elizabeth Williamsport, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drake Sunday evening.

Relatives and friends assembled at the home of Mrs. Laura Dennis last Sunday to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Dennis and her granddaughter, Miss Jean Dennis. The day was one of pleasure and enjoyment. Mrs. Oren Dennis and Miss Betty Morris entertained with two vocal duets with Mrs. Almada Bennett at the piano group singing led by Oren and Harold Dennis. Mrs. Gertrude Friece accompanist.

Lending real pleasure to the afternoon was the reading from memory by Mrs. Alice Moore who is in her eighty-second year.

Guests included were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchison and children Pauline, Juaria and Johnson, Harzil Dinkler, Vernon Tarbill, Mr. and Mrs. George Dennis, children, Warren and Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dennis, Leah, Billy, Anna, Robert and Junior, Mrs. Alice

LAKE SHRUNK

ESTES, PARK, Colo.—Grand Lake, center of one of Colorado's best known summer playgrounds, has either shrunk 60 acres or else early estimates of its size were inaccurate. L. L. Stimson, civil engineer, who recently completed a survey of the lake, said that its dimensions were 470.6 acres, instead of 530 acres as previously estimated. Stimson found that the lake was 7,700 feet long and that its greatest depth was 260 feet.

When a Needle Is Lost In Tissues of the Body

It Doesn't Travel as Far as Many Believe. Says Authority, Telling of Unusual Case

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

A RECENT NEWSPAPER story told of a man of 80 years of age who, when a boy of 13, came into violent contact with a needle. The needle was not removed at the time. According to the story sixty-seven years later the needle was seen emerging from the man's big toe.

Dr. Copeland

Of course, I do not wish to doubt this story. It may well be, however, that the needle recovered from the big toe was not the same needle that entered the young boy's hand.

It is true that foreign bodies, like bullets, pins and needles, may move about in the body. But their range of movement is limited and probably never to the extent believed by most people.

Call a Physician

Great excitement occurs when a needle is lost in the tissues of a member of the family. This makes it more difficult to remove the foreign body. Too often the victim squeezes and pinches the afflicted part in the hope that the needle will come out. This results in driving it in still deeper.

The best thing to do when this accident occurs is to keep calm and hold the injured part as quietly as possible. This prevents the needle from entering into deeper tissues and from breaking. Bear in mind that only a slight movement of the muscles may drive the needle so deeply into the tissues that removal is almost impossible.

A physician should be called immediately. If the needle is visible he will get it. If its position cannot be determined otherwise, the needle can be localized by an X-ray examination. If necessary, an incision is made and the needle removed.

All surgeons agree that search for a needle that has entered the body with a comparatively short time is indeed a difficult task. It is made difficult because contraction of the muscles changes the position of the needle. For this reason, a search in one particular area may be unsuccessful.

There are several methods of visualizing the needle other than the use of the X-ray machine. Concentrated light or a magnet which is attracted to iron and steel objects may determine the position of the needle. The needle of a compass may be directed by the buried article.

Of course the safest plan is to take the necessary precautions against needle accidents. When you sew, keep track of the needle, and do not use it except in a light room. When the needle is not in use make sure it is threaded. This will help you to find it when needed. Use a thimble when you sew, and when at a sewing machine keep the fingers well guarded from the needle.

Negligence is responsible for many of our troubles. Awkward use of the needle may result in damage.

Answers to Health Queries

E. F. Q.—What causes dark circles under the eyes?

A.—This may be due to lack of rest, worry or constipation. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question.

S. S. Q.—I have bronchitis and intend to settle on a farm—do you think a change in occupation and climate would benefit my condition? 2: My wife and son have hay fever every fall. Would their condition be irritated by living on a farm, rather than in the city?

A.—Yes, such a change might prove beneficial. 2: This depends upon the cause of the trouble as well as upon the other underlying facts in the case. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

E. S. Q.—What do you advise for watery eyes?

A.—It would be wise to have your eyes examined to determine the cause.

MOVIES!

AT THE GRAND

The Columbia Picture, "Obey the Law," with Leo Carrillo, Dickie Moore and Lois Wilson, will be feature at the Grand Theatre on Friday running for two days. The story brings Carrillo to the screen in another of his perfect dialect performances as an Italian immigrant who becomes innocently involved in the crooked ward politics of New York's East Side.

Ben Stoltz directed the production which includes Henry Cline, Eddie Garr, Gino Corrado and Mary McLaren in the supporting cast.

AT THE CLIFTONA

What can happen to society at the merciless hands of a brilliant psychologist and scientist crazed with a lust for gold and thrilled with a desire to kill, is the guaranteed jittery theme of the Cliftona Theatre's attraction this Friday and Saturday, "Before Dawn," RKO-Radio Picture's mystery dramatization of the last Edgar Wallace story featuring Stuart

Erwin, Warner Oland and Dorothy Wilson.

Oland portrays the mad medico in this eerie tale. Learning of a million dollars in gold loot hidden in an old house, he comes to this place murder bent. His opposition is a female spiritualist enlisted by the police to solve the crime. He perpetrates. With her supernatural powers, she detects his every misdeed, until he attempts to kill her in the tense climax.

Dudley Digges, Jane Darwell, Oscar Apfel and Gertrude W. Hoffmar support in "Before Dawn" under the direction of Irving Pichel.

Governors to Meet

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Governors of nine western states have been invited by Gov. Leslie Miller, of Wyoming, to attend a meeting here on Oct. 26, at which time arrangements for the exchange of prison-made goods under the supervision of the national recovery act will be worked out. Governors of New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Utah were asked to attend or send representatives.

Will you experiment ONE WEEK to be RID of Constipation FOR LIFE?

Thousands have ended their bowel troubles this way

- 1 Get a liquid laxative that can be measured to the drop.
- 2 Take the amount found to bring a perfect movement.
- 3 Reduce the dose, as bowels begin to move without help.

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not likely to cure any case of constipation with salts, pills, tablets or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can correct this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it! And the habitual use of irritating salts, or of powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pills and tablets may prove injurious.

What is a Safe Laxative?

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know anything about a preparation, ask some doctor about it. Temporary relief that you get from some habit-forming cathartic is very apt to be dearly bought.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription preparation with its ingredients stated on the label. By using it, you avoid bowel strain. You can keep the bowels regular, and comfortable. You can make constipated spells as rare as colds.

Make the LIQUID TEST:

A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative will prove to you that you are on the right track. A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be as regular as clockwork. The secret is the right laxative, and the right dose. A laxative you can measure out, and reduce the dose as the need for help is reduced. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which every druggist keeps ready for use.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

NRA: Chiseling continues on a wide scale. Codes to the extent of 135 have been signed, 59 are in effect. Most employers are going to all sorts of lengths to keep from hiring extra help.

The NRA is reaching the interminably tedious task of enforcing its codes, but not doing a great deal about it.

COMMODITY PRICES: Roosevelt is trying to boost them, but if he succeeds, factory workers will demand higher wages to compensate for the increased cost of living. It is an unending circle.

Henry Bruere, Roosevelt's new banking coordinator, has two things of which he is most proud. One is his son, the other is the long list of corporations on which he serves as director.

One day his son, having just graduated from Harvard, went with his father while the latter made the rounds of the great banks and companies on which he serves as director.

"Well, what do you think of it?" asked old Henry, proudly.

"NOTE—Not long ago, Bruere threatened to cut off his son's expense money if he did not come back from Paris. Young Bruere called his bluff. He told him to go ahead. Next day he got a job running a taxi.

Use candles if they are very tall and not likely to get mixed up with so much paper decoration, or if some adult is to be in supervision of the dining room throughout the time of table service. Orange candles with black cut-outs of witches slipped over them, are amusing and colorful additions to this festive table.

Serve on paper plates, with fall paper drinking cups, paper napkins, and small favors around each plate. The plates and cups should be white, although the decorations on the napkins may be the traditional witch and cat and pumpkin designs.

Rice and Cheese

In a Good Omelet

THIS, like all souffles and omelets should be served as soon as taken from the oven. Hot white sauce should be prepared and ready to serve with it.

Yolks of four eggs beaten until lemon colored; one half teaspoon salt; one fourth teaspoon paprika; one cup cooked rice; four tablespoons cream; one half cup grated cheese; four egg whites stiffly beaten. Fold in the stiff egg whites to the mixture of yolks, seasoning, rice, cream and cheese, turn into a souffle dish or baking dish rubbed with shortening. Set the dish in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until well browned and set. Serve at once with hot white sauce.

CONVOY FORMED

In the vicinity of Council Bluffs, 500 or more farmers formed an anti-strike organization to afford safe convoy to trucks enroute to market with farm products. As a result, strike pickets disappeared from the highways in that vicinity.

A Special Salad of Pineapple

SELECT a large ripe pineapple. Rinse off the outside, and do not remove the spikes or leafy-end. Cut the pineapple in half lengthwise, through the bottom and right on through the spikes.

With a sharp paring knife, cut out the fruit from the interior, leaving a shell of each half. Cut the removed fruit in small cubes. Sprinkle with French dressing and chill in the refrigerator.

The Filling

If needless waste grapes are available, wash them, remove the stems, and cut in halves lengthwise, mix with the pineapple cubes and chill. Otherwise use large white (canned) cherries, removing the seeds and cutting them in halves. Cut dates in halves, and remove the seeds. Mix altogether; there should be one fourth cup each of the cherries and of the dates. When ready to serve, peel four ripe bananas, remove strings and quickly scoop small balls of the ripe pulp; use a small potato scoop or the scoop from the garnishing set. Mix the banana quickly with the other fruit.

Fill the pineapple shells, garnish with small sections of candied orange, and arrange the filled halves side by side, spikes pointing in opposite directions, on a large serving plate. Serve with whipped cream salad dressing (half mayonnaise, half cream, seasoned with lemon juice).

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Taking Stock of Where the "New Deal" is Heading Economically

WASHINGTON—Here is a brief stock-taking of where the U. S. A. is headed economically under the New Deal. It is based upon some reports prepared for President Roosevelt by his experts, and from other reports, entirely unofficial. It is by no means infallible.

GENERAL: The gap between Capital and Labor is widening. Big Business, ready to yield to radical socialism during the Bank Holiday, is now cocky, confident and fighting every inch of the way against Government regulation. Labor meanwhile sees its first opportunity to "get something."

This growing gap is one of the most serious things confronting the country. It may lead to drastic measures—even force.

AGRICULTURE: Another gap—that between farm prices and industrial prices—also is serious. It is due not so much to the NRA as to two other factors. One is the farmer's debt burden. The other is his inability to organize.

Under the NRA, industry can ignore the old Anti-Trust laws, can combine to fix prices, etc. Organization of most of industry is easy. It is relatively concentrated in the hands of a few people.

But there are some 80,000,000 farmers. Organizing them is next to impossible. Those running the farm strike out on the surface in numbers. Farmers won't be better off until they learn to stick together.

DEBTS: Lending more money to the farmers is not appreciated by them. Most of the farms are mortgaged up to the roof. More money would just bog them down. What they want are prices.

The various monetary measures proposed by Roosevelt all are for the purpose of wiping out debt burdens. With inflation, mortgages would be paid off easily. But this is a hazardous solution. Some of Roosevelt's friends claim he is afraid of more stringent measures. A capital levy would accomplish exactly the same thing, but the thought of it sends cold shivers down the spinal columns of big business.

ECONOMIC PLANNING: This is on the way. The hit-and-miss system which, for instance, condones new coal mines, while others were not making money and while thousands of coal miners are out of work, can not continue, if the country is going to keep its head above water.

Economic planning, however, will come slowly. Roosevelt has his hands too full right now to attempt any real study of it.

PUBLIC WORKS: A certain amount of economic planning is taking place in regard to these—at least in regard to Federal projects. The Director of the Budget is allowing no federal projects to be built if their upkeep subsequently will swell his expense.

Delay in Public Works has been due chiefly to the States and Municipalities in standing up to the counter and asking for money. The funds are there if they can satisfy requirements.

BUSINESS: The recent upward trend is having a hard time stalling further. Retail sales failed to record their usual seasonal gain during mid-October. The chief difficulty is that prices have gone up beyond the capacity of people to pay.

HAYS BECOMES POSTMASTER

FARLEY SENDS WORD TO TAKE POST AT ONCE

Orville Trone to Resume His Duties as Assistant to Postmaster

HAD BEEN ACTING Takes Office 17 Days After Endorsement

Hulse Hays, N. Court-st., became Circleville's postmaster, Friday, after receiving instructions from Postmaster General James A. Farley to assume the office at once.

Mr. Hays replaces Orville Trone who has been acting postmaster since George P. Foreman, Republican, resigned. Mr. Trone, being under civil service returns immediately to his former post as assistant postmaster.

No changes will be made in the roster of the office, all employees being under civil service.

CHANGE NOV. 1 The new postmaster was to be sworn in before a notary public sometime during the day. His regime, however, will not start according to record until next Wednesday, Nov. 1. It is the usual custom as far as such offices are concerned to make changes either at the close of the quarter's business or at the conclusion of the month. Mr. Trone will complete the office's reports up to Nov. 1 after which time they will be under Mr. Hays' supervision.

Mr. Hays was not certain, Friday, what bond would be required of him. Mr. Foreman was postmaster under $17,000 bond and Mr. Trone, when he became acting postmaster, provided a bond of $19,000. This detail is expected to be taken care of prior to Nov. 1.

ENDORSED OCT. 10 Mr. Hays takes over the office 17 days after being voted the endorsement of the Pickaway-co. Democratic executive committee. He defeated K. J. Hermann and C. K. Hunsicker for the committee's support. One week after the committee voted Congressman Mell G. Underwood notified Mr. Hays that his name was being sent to Mr. Farley for appointment.

There are 19 persons connected with the local post office including the postmaster, assistant postmaster, five city carriers, five clerks and seven rural carriers. There are seven rural routes out of the local office the longest of which is about 40 miles. The others are between 26 and 30 miles.

Another change in postmaster-ship will be made in the county effective next Wednesday when Thomas B. Gephart, Democrat, succeeds Bertus H. Moore in that office. Mr. Moore has resigned and Mr. Gephart has been appointed acting postmaster until civil service examination is held and a permanent postmaster duly selected.

WOMAN, 90, HURT

Mrs. Sarah Funk, New Holland, Hurt in Chillicothe Automobile Wreck.

Mrs. Sarah Funk, 90, well known New Holland woman, is reported in serious condition in Chillicothe city hospital suffering from injuries she received in an automobile wreck Wednesday evening.

She sustained chest injuries, bruises on the head and severe shock. Her advanced age makes the injuries more serious.

Mrs. Funk was pinned in the auto of George Lump, New Holland, when its front fender was hooked by that of the passing car of O. E. Dennewitz, Chillicothe. The wreck happened on the Londonderry-pk.

Mrs. Funk's daughters, Mrs. Charles Anderson, 63, of Columbus, suffered a wrenched back and had several ribs fractured, and Miss Elizabeth Funk, New Holland, suffered torn ligaments in her left shoulder. Both also suffered from bruises and shock.

21 Claims Filed By County Workers

Pickaway-co. workers filed 21 claims during September with the Ohio Industrial commission. None of the claims were for fatalities and none caused permanent injury. Eleven resulted in seven days lost time, two for seven or less and eight were medical cases. The time loss was 367 days. A total of 12,761 claims were filed in the state during the month.

FORD'S RIGHT CHALLENGED

General Johnson Says Motor Magnate Has No Right To Bid On U. S. Work.

HITS AGENTS, TOO

"Ford In Direct Violation of Recovery Act."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Henry Ford already is in direct violation of the automobile code and is not eligible to make any bids for government contracts, either through the main company or any agencies, in the opinion of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, National Recovery administrator.

He based this opinion on the fact that Edsel Ford told him that the company would never consent to collective bargaining.

"Edsel Ford told me," Johnson said at a press conference today, "that the company would never put into effect anything looking toward collective bargaining with employees. I don't think Ford is eligible to make bids for any government contracts. From the very beginning he has stated he is not in sympathy with the National Recovery act or with any phase of the National Recovery program."

"As to whether or not an agent for the Ford company who has subscribed to the President's Re-employment Agreement has the right to bid, I answer emphatically no."

"I have said many times that a million dollar concern which does not subscribe for a Blue Eagle cannot hide behind a $10,000 company that does subscribe, no matter if this small company is an agent for the big company or not."

2 YOUTHS FACING ROSS-CO CHARGE

Brungs and Fowler Held For Taking Lanterns, Removing Road Barricades.

Fred Brungs, Pearl alley, and Chester Fowler, Weldon alley, will face charges in Ross-co of stealing red lanterns and knocking over barricades on Route 80, in Colerain-twp.

As a result of the vandalism of the youth, a serious traffic hazard was created since one-way traffic was prevailing because of construction of a new bridge.

Brungs and Fowler were arrested Thursday evening after an investigation by Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Officer William McCrady and Deputy Ben Root of Ross-co.

Fowler had allegedly confessed his part in the destruction but Brungs denies his guilt.

With their arrest theft of 15 bushels of corn from the R. T. Liston property is cleared up. Fowler confessed to the theft and told officers where the corn had been sold in Ross-co.

Charles Kendrick, Ross-co highway superintendent, will file charges against the youths.

M.E. District Conference Is November 2 In Adelphi

At 11:15 a. m. Dr. O. W. Fifer will deliver an address on "Some Significant Thought Trends." A chicken dinner will be served at 12:15 p. m., and the district stewards' meeting will be held during the noon hour.

WHITE URGES BRICKER HELP IN OHIO PROBE

Governor Takes Official Cognizance of Lobbyist Investigation

MAKES STATEMENT

Hoskins Following Textbook Price Study

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—Gov. George White today officially took cognizance of the investigation of alleged unethical practices of legislative lobbyists.

The governor addressed a communication to Attorney General John W. Bricker, requesting his aid in the probe now being conducted by the senate textbook committee and by the Franklin-co. prosecutor.

"Persistent rumors are current," the governor told Bricker, "indicating the possibility that pernicious and unlawful practices have been resorted to by some persons, in order to influence members of the legislature in the performance of their duties."

He directed the attorney general's attention to the investigation of Donald J. Hoskins, Franklin-co. prosecutor, and of the senate textbook committee.

"These investigations," he said, "should be thorough, to the extent that the public may know all the facts, and the guilty, if any, be punished."

"It appears that a complete investigation may lead to inquiries outside of Franklin-co. Owing to the fact that the jurisdiction of Prosecutor Hoskins is limited by law to Franklin-co., the assistance of the attorney general's office may become necessary in order to properly carry on this work."

The matter is of such importance to the state at large, the governor asserted, that "a thorough-going investigation must be made in the most effective manner possible."

He later was captured.

STATE LEADS BANK'S AREA

More Farm Loans Approved In Ohio Than Kentucky, Tennessee or Indiana.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—The federal government through the land bank approved loans to Ohio farmers of $9,179,900 to Oct. 25. P. L. Kerr, of the local branch of the Louisville Federal Land bank, announced today.

Ohio, he pointed out, has had more loans approved than any of the four states under the jurisdiction of the Louisville bank. Other states in this district are Kentucky, Indiana and Tennessee.

Of the total loans approved for this state, $7,214,400 will come from the regular Federal Land Bank fund, Kerr said, while the remaining $1,965,500 was approved under the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act which placed $200,000,000 at the disposal of the Land Bank Commissioner for loans on first or second mortgages.

FIGURES QUOTED Applications of 2,223 Ohio farmers for regular land bank loans, available only on first mortgages, and of 1,529 others for the so-called "commissioner loans" have been approved.

Already this month, Kerr said, the applications of 1,420 Ohio farmers for federal land bank loans totaling $4,752,500, 1,302 commissioner loans amounting to $1,711,000, have been approved. He expected loan approvals next month to equal those sums.

Most of the appraisals on applications from Ohio farmers have been completed, he said, and those remaining will be finished by next week.

Mothers of 61 Slain Cuban Youths Dem and Revenge on Killers

HAVANA, Oct. 27.—While bomb explosions rang through Havana, raising a wave of terror, mothers of 61 youths assassinated during the Machado regime today demanded vengeance.

Urging the government to act quickly, the women demanded President Grau San Martin start immediate prosecution of all known Machado killers now held in prison.

The cry of the bereaved women for retribution rose in an atmosphere of unrest and violence as the city remained tense through still another wave of bombing, culminating in a blast in front of the Casa Medias.

YOUTHS HELD; BANDIT SLAIN

Dayton Police Jail Pair As Suspects in Robberies; Indiana Officer Kills Man

DAYTON, Oct. 27.—Two youths, suspected of having participated in at least two Indiana bank robberies within the last ten days and believed to have connections with the notorious John Dillinger gang, were held by police here today for questioning.

The youths, who gave their names as Raymond Earl Randall, 18, of Chicago, and Albert Johnson Thomas, 18, of Opelousas, La., were taken into custody in a downtown restaurant here after one of them had attempted to draw a revolver on a detective.

Police said the youths answered the description of the gunmen who robbed the Madoc and Filmore, Ind., banks recently. Photographs and fingerprints of the boys were being rushed to Indiana state police and federal authorities at Washington to check on their identities.

At the time of their arrest, police said, the youths had about $400 and a revolver in their possession.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 27.—The first death of an alleged criminal in Indiana's new police order to "shoot to kill" occurred here early today.

Gilbert Tuggle, 24, of Indianapolis, alleged burglar and fugitive from justice, was shot to death by Radio Patrolman Arthur Lowe, as he fled from officers.

Deadline for Payment of Real and Tangible Taxes Now Nov. 30

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—The state tax commission has extended the deadline for payment of real and tangible property taxes from October 20 to November 30, it was announced today.

In extending the deadline, the commission acted on a recently enacted law of the Legislature which moved the date up to October 20, and gave the commission authority to extend it.

Many county treasurers throughout the state notified the commission that the March banking holiday had brought about strangulation of funds of many taxpayers and made it impossible for them to pay their taxes by the October date.

John Bosch, president of the Minnesota Farmers' Holiday Association, who says that the strike will go on until the farmers win. He says he does not think President Roosevelt's program for farm relief is broad enough.

The accident happened several hundred yards south of the Twin Elms at South Bloomfield.

Ware was walking south on the west side of the road in the company of John Barnes, of Berwyn, Ill. The men had been in Toledo and were hitch-hiking to Pikeston.

STEPPED INTO ROAD Barnes told Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell, who investigated, that Mr. Ballard scudded his horn but instead of stepping off the road Ware stepped in front of the car. Barnes was not struck, and the accident happened back of the injured man to Berge hospital.

Barnes signed a statement in Deputy Fissell's presence concerning the Columbus attorney of any blame.

Investigation at the hospital disclosed Ware was suffering from compound fractures of both legs, and that he had a cut on his head. Shock is thought to have caused death. The accident happened between 1:30 and 2 p. m. and Ware died until 7 p. m.

The body was taken to Pikeston, Friday, by a funeral director from that town.

ACTIVE BAR MEMBER Mr. Ballard, whose office is located at 8 E. Broad-st., is well known by members of the local bar. He has appeared here in a number of cases. He is very active in Columbus fraternal and social circles.

Little damage was done when two out-of-town autos collided in front of the courthouse Thursday afternoon. One car was badly damaged and the other was not.

Girl Undergoes Complete Change, Now Is Like Man

Metamorphosis Puzzles Oakland, Cal., Scientists; Now Shaves Each Day.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 27.—The mysterious case of an attractive 23-year-old girl slowly undergoing an extraordinary change until she now resembles a man in many physical and psychological characteristics, puzzled scientists today at Highland hospital.

Identity of the girl was withheld.

The scientists believe the strange metamorphosis, which has transformed the soft skin of the girl so that she is now compelled to shave daily, was partially induced by the use of quick reducing remedies which destroyed the delicate balance between the thyroid and pituitary glands.

Doctors have removed the patient's thyroid gland and proposed to feed her an extract of the pituitary gland in an effort to reverse the metamorphosis from femininity to masculinity.

The girl two years ago was wholly feminine in manner and physical being. She has been a hospital patient two weeks, physicians disclosed.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

Fatal Accident Happens South of Twin Elms

Charles Ware, 42, an itinerant barber of Pikeston, died Friday morning in Berge hospital of injuries he suffered Thursday afternoon when he stepped into the path of the automobile driven by Henry S. Ballard, prominent Columbus attorney.

The accident happened several hundred yards south of the Twin Elms at South Bloomfield.

Ware was walking south on the west side of the road in the company of John Barnes, of Berwyn, Ill. The men had been in Toledo and were hitch-hiking to Pikeston.

TIGERS FAIL BEFORE DELAWARE'S ATTACK

Early Lead When Fumble is Covered, But Go To Pieces; Wilson, Colored Halfback, Is Star Rambling For Four Touchdowns; Grandview Comes to Life Defeating Bexley.

Calling to pieces after they took a 10-0 lead over Delaware, high school players of the Circleville team had their ears pinned back in a Central Buckeye game Friday at Delaware. The final score was 25-6.

SPORT BRIEFS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Twenty-six Syracuse players to-day were enroute to East Lansing, Mich., for Saturday's game at Michigan State. Ed Jontos, track sophomore guard appeared in the final drill yesterday and should be able to start.

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 27.—Coach Ed. G. of Harvard has decided to start Chate at end tomorrow against Dartmouth. Adzigan will be at left halfback in place of Locke.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Two of the finest running backs in the east will face each other here tomorrow. George Handour of Villanova is a triple-threat man mentioned for All American. Bill Pendergast, Manhattan college ace, is rated one of the best players of the smaller colleges of the country.

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 27.—Euck Blalock, Lafayette fullback, will be unable to play in the Colgate game tomorrow. The squad will leave today for Sherburne, N. Y., and practice there this afternoon and possibly stage a signal drill tomorrow before leaving for Hamilton to face the Red Raiders.

through the line and sweeping end run added to the yardage piled up by the Delawareites who lost to Grandview and Westerville in lopsided games.

Incidentally, on paper Circleville was 22 points better than the Ervin Carlisle-coached 11.

FUMBLE HELPS

The Tiger score came when Delaware fumbled Gaines Hill's kickoff. Harmon covered the ball and plays by Davis and Smith took the ball over the goal, the latter scoring. A pass in a try for the extra point was bogged down.

Then Johnny Wilson broke loose. A colored halfback, Wilson proved to be the slipperiest thing the Tigers have tried to grab this year. He skipped hither and yon, playing tag with the Red and Black ends, and slapping the Tiger secondary on the shoulder before tripping for many yards.

He scored all of Delaware's four touchdowns.

The Tigers were handicapped when Gaines Hill, sterling leader, was forced to leave the game because of a leg injury.

Grandview, tied 0-0 last week by the Tigers, defeated Bexley, 13-0, in another Central Buckeye contest Friday. Bexley had previously given the Tigers a 34-0 drubbing.

Officials for the Delaware-Circleville game were George Staten, of Ohio Wesleyan; Bacon of Wabash, and McMillen of Ohio State.

'State' Papers Attack Gridiron Administration

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—Two campus publications at Ohio State University today reached over and took a smack at the Buckeye athletic department.

Both of the jibes apparently were inspired by the rout of the Buckeye football team a week ago, 13 to 0, at the hands of Michigan.

In a front page editorial, The Lantern, student campus daily, asserted that "there is no doubt in our minds that something is amiss in our athletic department with regard to football. We are not prepared to say that the fault lies wholly with Coach Willaman. The trouble may have its origin in higher offices."

The Sun Dial, campus humor publication, took a wallop at the athletic department by declaring that "Ohio State doesn't need a new coach because it never had one to begin with. The best coach Ohio State almost had was sent to Harvard a couple of months ago."

Commenting upon the Michigan game last week, The Sun Dial article bitingly said:

"They (the football team) walked out on the field, walked to catch up with the game, and in general acted like they had been doped, or returning from a jag."

The article also asserted that the Ohio State team "is the biggest inferiority complex in organized football."

The front-page editorial of The Lantern stated that the present football season can be considered a failure—regardless of the outcome of the remaining five contests.

"When the Athletic board meets to discuss the personnel and administration of the athletic department for next season, The Lantern will give reasons why it feels some changes should be made."

Robert K. Richards of Urbana, is editor of The Lantern.

The proprietor of the station, Dr. L. A. Cambo, explained he was an exile during the Machado regime and thus could not offer a motive for the attack.

Earlier, two additional street cars were bombed in the suburbs and another was bombed in the downtown section of the city. Two Spaniards were slightly hurt.

At the same time a plot of reprisal for recent communist killings was discovered in a police raid. The plot was scheduled to be carried out Nov. 7. Fernandez Paz, a naval petty officer, was arrested.

In their plea for speedy prosecution of killers, President Grau San Martin's women petitioners told him:

"We are losing faith in your government because of the delay in this important matter."

He asserted he was trying to speed the matter but had many other important problems.

OHIO ON 'SPOT' AS 'WILDCATS' TAKE STADIUM

Olson's Kicks Provide Problem; Great Pair of Ends Also With Squad.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—Before a homecoming crowd in Ohio Stadium Saturday, Ohio State will play Northwestern, a team which found itself last week and scored 25 points against Indiana in the last half of the game.

Last year Coach Sam Willaman's Buckeye team scored a great victory over Northwestern, thumping Coach Hanley's boys 29 to 0, and there is the possibility that Hanley will remind his players of this fact in preparing them for the Buckeyes.

Against Indiana, Northwestern played one of the greatest quarters of football ever seen in the Big Ten. Stopped in the first half by the Hoosier's hard-charging line, the Wildcats clawed through the Hoosiers and scored 22 points in the third quarter. Displaying a bewildering attack, led by a punter, a wriggling sophomore and two great ends, Northwestern outsmarted Indiana completely.

OLSON IS ACE

In Ollie Olson, Northwestern has one of the greatest kickers in Big Ten football history. Rated with Reggie of Michigan, as the best punter in the conference, Olson is also an accurate drop-kicker. His best point after touchdown enabled Northwestern to tie Purdue last season. Coach Hanley not only uses the punt as a weapon but works it into his strategy. When Roy Auguston is in the lineup, either he or Olson may do the booting, and both can hit the line, giving Hanley the versatility which enabled his team to rout the Hoosiers.

The answer to the question, "Who will replace Pug Rentner?" is Harry Leeper, a sophomore from Fort Wayne, Ind., who started the Wildcats on their way against Indiana by scoring a touchdown in two plays. Taking a punt on his own half of the field, he drove back to Indiana's 25 yard line, called his own signal on the next play, and whirled through tackle for the remaining distance to the goal.

In Ed Manske and Art Jens, Northwestern has a great pair of ends, against whom even Ohio State's great tackles may not make much headway. Although Manske is generally considered to be one of the best flankers in the conference, Jens stole the show last week, blocking one Indiana punt and downing Olson's long punts near the Hoosier goal.

"OH, PLEASE don't sit on that CHAIR!"

HARDLY a home without one... the chair with the shaky leg that Uncle Henry broke when he sat on it, back in 1929. (He was heavier, then.) The whole family knows about it, but for four years it has kept its place in the living room... a dubious decoration, a constant menace to the unsuspecting guest.

And so throughout America... here, in the dining room... there, in the bedroom or kitchen... an infirm company of tottery tables, spavined sideboards, and shabby chiffoniers. For the plain truth is that most of us, under pressure of circumstance, have just let our furniture go. And in those four years it has gone a long way.

Sooner or later something will have to be done about those worn-out household goods. And now is the great opportunity. For furniture prices today are lower than they are ever likely to be again!

Consider the facts since 1929 the furniture manufacturers have had so little demand for their products that furniture has almost ceased to have any basic value at all. Yet furniture should, like everything else, have a true basic value—a value sufficient to yield to its maker and his fellow workmen a fair amount to live upon.

UPTURN ITEM NO. 1

Statistics of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers show that production rose from 67% of normal capacity for the week ended August 5 to 114% during the week ended September 2. August retail sales were uniformly more successful than for several late summer seasons.

OHIO SHERIFFS RUSHING RADIO CHAIN EFFORTS

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27.—Spurred by the recent slaying of Sheriff Jess Sarber of Allen-co, and the escape of the gang of desperadoes which participated in the crime, the Buckeye State Sheriffs' Association is speeding forward in its plans to establish a radio chain throughout Ohio to combat lawlessness.

A campaign will be launched in northeastern Ohio, starting Jan. 1, to finance a radio station with headquarters probably in Canton, Ohio, executive secretary of the association, announced here.

Meanwhile, word was being awaited by the association from the Federal Radio Commission concerning the association's first station which will be established in Findlay.

The commission will rule on frequency and call letters for the 500-watt station at Findlay, and the apparatus should be ready for testing by Dec. 1, Moore said. The stations represent the fulfillment of a plan launched by the association several years ago.

TO COST $6,700
The contract for building of the Findlay station was awarded recently to the Western Electric Co. Cost of the apparatus will be $6,700.

The raid on the Allen-co jail, which resulted in the slaying of Sheriff Sarber, would never have happened if the radio station had been in operation," Moore declared.

"The many other incidents in the wave of crime that has hit northwestern Ohio in the last several years would not have happened either. The essential factor considered by all criminals is their getaway, and they simply couldn't make a getaway if the radio system were operating.

Half the value of the radio stations, the officers of the association believe, will be their value as "preventive insurance."

Criminals, realizing it will be impossible to escape when authorities throughout the vicinity are notified immediately by radio that a crime has taken place, will be deterred in their plans, the sheriffs claim.

Members of the association's board of trustees, which has been arranging the details concerned with establishment of the stations, are: Walter Underwood, Mansfield; Charles Green, Troy; Abe Laird, New Philadelphia; Bruce C. Pratt, Bowling Green; and C. G. Thorn, Marietta.

Underwood is chairman of the board and president of the association.

Mrs. Thurn Discusses the Serving of Guest Dinners

Dear Readers in Circleville:

So many times women in my Cooking School audiences ask me questions which require a lengthy, and personalized, answer. One such question is: "When my husband's business acquaintances come to dinner, where shall I seat the man, and his wife?"

As a rule, the woman who asks the question is one who not only must plan the dinner, but she cooks it, and serves it as well. This means that her house is run on an extremely informal basis. But she feels, nevertheless, that some rank and formality of procedure must be followed in her dining room.

Be Natural and Gracious

Actually such a housekeeper need only realize that if she is her natural, at-ease self, as gracious as she can possibly be, and as quietly efficient as good planning and experience makes possible, her guests will be happy, and the evening a success. When she announces dinner, her woman guest will probably rise and walk with her to the dining room. A few words: "Mr. Blank will you sit at my right hand, there; and Mrs. Blank, please sit at my husband's right, there," are sufficient.

The first course is on the table; a hot soup, or a chilled fruit cocktail, or a savory appetizer. When all have finished, the hostess arises, removes the serving plate, and soup plate, or cocktail glass and plate, or appetizer plate, as the case may be, and taking them from one person at a time, carries them to the kitchen. She removes the plates of the woman guest of honor first, then right on around the table until all are carried out.

Be Quick But Not Hurried

The plates for the dinner should be hot and ready in the kitchen. If she serves the dinner in the kitchen, each plate should be filled, and kept hot, then carried in two at a time, serving the woman guest of honor first, and after her right around the table.

If the plates are to be served in the dining room, the pile of hot plates may be carried in and placed before the host. He begins to serve them as soon as the dishes of meat, vegetables and sauces are placed near him, and he then passes the first filled plate to the woman guest of honor, then to the man guest of honor and on around the table until all are served.

While he is doing this, it is a good time to bring in hot rolls or bread, to re-fill water glasses, and to add final touches to the salad or dessert course in the kitchen; or to put the coffee on, and arrange the coffee tray.

range the coffee tray.

These courses have been made as nearly ready as possible, so that a quick touch is all that is necessary, and the hostess need not be absent from the dining room more than a few minutes. She ought not to seem to hurry, for this is distressing to guests, although they may not show it. They can well afford not to sit quietly chatting or perhaps helping the host pass the filled plates. The lack of haste, and the readiness of all parts of the dinner, not only make the occasion one of delight to the guests, but these aids are of first importance to the hostess.

Plan Well Before

Not only should a simple but delicious dinner be planned well in advance, carefully shopped, and carefully prepared, but the appointments of the table, the serving tools and accessories should all be in their places, and perfect for the occasion.

The kitchen cookery utensils should be washed up and out of the way, as much as possible, before the dinner is served; an apron easily slipped on should hang just inside the kitchen-dining room door, so that the necessary last moments in the kitchen after the hostess is dressed for dinner, and the moments between courses when she must be in the kitchen, will be taken care of. She should slip off the apron before coming to the table, and not appear in it from the time her guests arrive.

A mirror in the kitchen, a bit of powder, a little nail file, help assure this busy woman of last minute perfection when she must be in and out of her kitchen, play hostess in the living room and dining room, and cook in the kitchen.

When dinner is finished, she might excuse herself a few moments from the living room group, and with the door closed between dining room and kitchen, quickly carry things out to the kitchen, clearing the dining room completely of any signs of dinner. The dishes of course are left until after the guests depart. Then, a last look at herself, and once more she is the hostess, and joining her husband and guests in the living room, she gives her attention to bridge or conversation, for as long as her guests remain.

In later letters I shall give suggestions for having the table and planning easily-served menus; also suggestions for the house where there is a cook-maid, or both.

Mrs. George O. Thurn.

For the Children's Hallowe'en Party

The children's party table may be gay with crepe paper decorations. The figures on each chair back can be taken off and worn by the guests. The picket fence and centerpiece come with cut-outs and moss and other decorations. Appropriate menus are given elsewhere on the page for children's supper or luncheon.

Menus For the Children's Parties

In giving any party for children, it is advisable to plan the refreshments so that they take the place of one of the regular daily meals. Usually supper is the most suitable time, easier for the hostess, and for the mothers who must "fetch and bring" their offspring, and who would most certainly have another problem on their hands if the party dishes were served between meals, or late at night.

A Hallowe'en supper party for children is easily planned and with but small cost. It differs from other supper parties for youngsters in the table decorations and novelties, and possibly in the color scheme of the menu.

Decorations Are Gay
At the shops inexpensive crepe paper decorations and novelties are to be had for this holiday. A table centerpiece, small favors at each plate, and a nonsensical cap for each young guest are sufficient, but additional decorations may be used, such as cut-outs of cats, witches, jack-o'-lanterns and streamers placed elsewhere in the room. These are five-and-ten cent store novelties or found in plenty.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC

I keep coming back to that word "balanced" on the back of the Chesterfield package

YOU often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—top-heavy, not on an "even keel."

What you read, "Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend," means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package?

May we ask you to try Chesterfield?

A Balanced Blend

THAT'S MY BOY!

by FRANCIS WALLACE
AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

SYNOPSIS

Thomas Jefferson Randolph... now a great football prospect at famous Thorndyke University... was born of humble parents. Mom and Pop, in a little Middle West factory town where he won early renown as a brilliant high school back, so much so that the great eastern college had lured him to its swanky halls. Tommy came home for Christmas, spent much of the time trying to polish household manners, did not return Easter, but during his summer vacation he caused a most profound sensation throughout critical Athens by flashing on that burg the very latest in sport togs, white knickers, flannels, et al. The neighbors are rather caustic but, as Mom explains it, "if you fly with fine birds you must wear fine feathers" referring to her boy's "millionaire college chums"... Tommy golfs during first half of his vacation; then makes himself "as hard as nails" laboring as truck loader in glass-works where his father and brother, Pete, work. Pete and his girl, Steve, are planning to start a garage and marry; while Mom worries over the attitude of Florrie Johnson, neighborhood siren, towards Tommy. The latter is invited to the Country Club dance by Dorothy Whitney, daughter of the glassworks owner and the town's wealthiest man. But Mom is sore vexed when her big boy asks her to buy a corsage (what can that be?) for the delightful Dot...

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

She studied over it all night between naps; and she was still studying over it in the morning when Tommy, on his way to work, very cheerful, told her not to forget the corsage.

"What kind, Tommy? And how much?"

"I don't care—only get a nice one."

Mom was just as much in the dark as ever and she decided the only thing to do was to get dressed and go down early and tell the girl at Telling's she wanted to look at some corsages and then maybe she could pick out a nice one and have it put away till Wednesday; or maybe the girl would be nice—she was Mrs. McKee's daughter and a friendly little thing.

Mom was walking along, still studying it over, when a horn blew right back of her and made her jump—and there was Dorothy, looking pretty as a picture at the wheel and smiling with a kind of happy light over her eyes so much that you really couldn't see the eyes; and looking at her, Mom couldn't see what any boy in his right mind could see in a thing like Florrie Johnson when a girl like Dorothy was around.

"Ride?"

Mom was flustered. "I'm just going down to Telling's." Then she was embarrassed. She might have told Dorothy—how easy it would be to just ask her what kind of a corsage she wanted and then everybody would be sure to be satisfied; but Mom couldn't bring herself to do it.

"Buying some flowers for some lucky girl, I'll bet."

Mom laughed excitedly as she fixed herself in the car. "How did you know?"

"Just guessed."

"It's an awful hard job."

"No—I'll bet I could guess what kind of a dress the girl is going to wear."

"I don't see how—but that would help."

"I'll bet she'll wear a white lace—I could even tell you what would be the best corsage for that, if my guess is right."

"I'll bet you couldn't."

"Well," Dorothy hesitated, "if I were you I'd just go in and order a corsage of lilies-of-the-valley, a small one to fit the arm."

ATLANTA

Willis Cleary and Clarence Radcliffe were business visitors in Columbus Tuesday.

James Mills and John Dunlap are comfortably domiciled together on the Mills farm. They can now sing "Home Sweet Home" and enjoy life.

Mrs. Alice Conrad, Miss Bessie Shockley and Miss Alice Adkins were recent dinner guests of Mrs. Bernice Briggs of Circleville.

Mrs. Daisy Stinson and Mrs. Mabel Hancock were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wright, of New Holland, Tuesday.

Miss Florence Cockwell, teacher in the Clarkburg school was the over night guest of Miss Mary Clements Tuesday night and attended the O. E. S. lodge at New Holland.

John Farmer Sr. and son Glenn attended the funeral of Conrad Steinhilber held at his late home in Ashville last Friday.

Oakley Turner went to Columbus Tuesday morning and joined the Civilian Conservation Corps for six months. He left for Camp Knox Wednesday.

Mrs. Roy Irvin went to Springfield last week to attend the funeral of her nephew who was run down by an automobile and killed.

Mrs. Almada Bennett, Miss Annamie Russ and Miss Helen Overmeyer were Chillicothe visitors Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vaughn Sr. and Mrs. Rena Johnson motored

Tommy was even more amusing as a Thorndyke freshman to Dorothy... his new manners, his awkward bows, his multi-syllabized speech.

Mom sighed happily, excitedly: "You think that would be right? Because Tommy told me to be sure and get the best."

"I'll bet it'll be the best you could get."

So Mom marched in and ordered a corsage of lilies-of-the-valley, arm size, to be delivered to Miss Dorothy Whitney on the following Wednesday. And she walked out and went on her way to Butcher Brown's with a distinct air of superiority.

Dorothy watched her go down the street and smiled; and thought how proud she was of her son; of how she had spoiled him, of how the town had spoiled him. Even Dorothy, knowing that she shouldn't, had helped to spoil him, had done her small part in the creation of the handsome idol.

Dorothy would have preferred gardenias; she had told his mother lilies-of-the-valley; they were cheaper; they would be easier on Tommy.

Easier on Tommy. Glorify Tommy. Tommy! Tommy!

Grandmother had firmly impressed upon Dorothy her social importance and the superiority of the Whitneys, per se, over any of their employees; and the old lady was so positive it was difficult not to be impressed; but while recognizing this superiority Dorothy had been able to accept Tom Randolph by the simple expedient of not admitting it—a deft distinction upon which she did not dwell despite Grandmother's vivid memory of the mentality of the boy's family. Tom had never even been aware of the problem. He had looked upon Dorothy boldly from the first and accepted their companionship with an assurance equal to her own. His superb confidence annoyed her at times; but it had flattered Dorothy to be squired by the high school hero.

He was even more amusing as a Thorndyke freshman, with his new manners, his awkward bows, his multi-syllabized speech. There was no harm in trying; and if Tommy, through the sheer accident of football ability, chose to work so hard at his opportunity of becoming a gentleman, it was perfectly all right with Dorothy and she wished him luck; even though there were times when he tried her patience as he was most severely testing that of most of the young people of Athens. Tom had gone high-hat on them and they were boiling over. Dorothy sympathized; but she was Tommy's guest and if he had chosen to ignore the Athens delegation for the more important social group from Smithville there was nothing she could do but look as pretty and act as graciously as possible so as to do Tommy proud. She was part of his act for the evening. Tom had served notice upon Athens that, as a Thorndyke man, he could no longer be at home to the old gang, except, of course, Dorothy Whitney.

She smiled. Tom's glance was inquiring. He said: "What's funny?" She did not answer but continued to appear deeply amused. This always maddened Tom. He was quick to resent the slightest hint of ridicule of himself. Dorothy had found this knowledge valuable.

"Well?" he demanded. She lifted a small finger to her lip, idly, and smiled a merry smile, deliberately provocative. He hated her and she liked it. Dorothy held no obligation to save the wounded pride of Athens by a counter-irritant but it pleased her to stick such small pins in Tommy's ego. He reacted to the formula; exuberance was hardening into dignity; he would not look at her eyes; his chin gradually moved out from his neck, like that of a turtle coming out from its shell; small muscles in his jaw were tightening and twitching.

The music was soft and bewitched; lights were enticingly shadowed; romance was in the rafters. Dorothy felt suddenly that she was taking advantage of his weakness; a distinctly feminine advantage because she knew that Tom was devoutly wishing that for just a moment she might be a boy—once, in such a mood, he had told her so. She prepared to ease him gently from the mood before it congealed into formality—once Tom became formal it took hours to melt him back into his normal warmth.

"Tom—"

He did not answer; he continued to gaze defiantly over the heads of the dancers. It was going to be difficult, Dorothy knew—he had been very warm with appreciation of himself and her dash of cold ridicule had steamed him up with record speed.

LAKE SHRUNK

ESTES, PARK, Colo.—Grand Lake, center of one of Colorado's best known summer playgrounds, has either shrunk 60 acres or else early estimates of its size were inaccurate. L. L. Stinson, civil engineer, who recently completed a survey of the lake, said that its dimensions were 470.6 acres, instead of 530 acres as previously estimated. Stinson found that the lake was 7,700 feet long and that its greatest depth was 230 feet.

When a Needle Is Lost In Tissues of the Body

It Doesn't Travel as Far as Many Believe.
Says Authority, Telling of Unusual Case

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

A RECENT NEWSPAPER story told of a man of 80 years of age who, when a boy of 13, was into violent contact with a needle. The needle was not removed at the time. According to the story six years later the needle was seen emerging from the man's big toe.

Of course, I do not wish to doubt this story. It may well be, however, that the needle recovered from the big toe was not the same needle that entered the young boy's hand.

It is true that foreign bodies, like bullets, pins and needles, may move about in the body. But their range of movement is limited and probably never to the extent believed by most people.

Call a Physician
Great excitement occurs when a needle is lost in the tissues of a member of the family. This makes it more difficult to remove the foreign body. Too often the victim squeezes and pushes the afflicted part in the hope that the needle will come out. This results in driving it in still deeper.

The best thing to do when this accident occurs is to keep calm and hold the injured part as quietly as possible. This prevents the needle from entering into deeper tissues and from breaking. Bear in mind that only a slight movement of the muscles may drive the needle so deeply into the tissues that removal is almost impossible.

A physician should be called immediately. If the needle is visible he will get it. If its position cannot be determined otherwise, the needle can be localized by an X-ray examination. If necessary, an incision is made and the needle removed. All surgeons agree that search for a needle that has entered the body within a comparatively short time is indeed a difficult task. It is made difficult because contraction of the muscles changes the position of the needle. For this reason, a search in one particular area may be unsuccessful.

There are several methods of visualizing the needle other than the use of the X-ray machine. Concentrated light or a magnet which is attracted to iron and steel objects may determine the position of the needle. The needle of a compass may be directed by the buried article.

Of course the safest plan is to take the necessary precautions against needle accidents. When you sew, keep track of the needle, and do not use it except in a light room. When the needle is not in use make sure it is threaded. This will help you to find it when needed. Use a thimble when you sew, and when at a sewing machine keep the fingers well guarded from the needle.

Negligence is responsible for many of our troubles. A careless use of the needle may result in damage.

Answers to Health Queries
E. F. Q.—What causes dark circles under the eyes?
A.—This may be due to lack of rest, worry or constipation. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question.

S. S. Q.—I have bronchitis and intend to settle on a farm—do you think a change in occupation and climate would benefit my condition?
A.—My wife and son have fever every fall. Would their condition be improved by living on a farm, rather than in the city?

A.—Yes, such a change might prove beneficial. 2: This depends upon the cause of the trouble as well as upon the other underlying facts in the case. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

E. S. Q.—What do you advise for watery eyes?
A.—It would be wise to have your eyes examined to determine the cause.

Oland portrays the mad medico in this eerie tale. Learning of a million dollars in gold hidden in an old house, he comes to this place murder bent. His opposition is a female spiritualist enlisted by the police to solve the crime; he perpetrates. With her supernatural powers, she detects his every misdeed, until he attempts to kill her in the tense climax.

Governors to Meet
CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Governors of nine western states have been invited by Gov. Leslie Miller of Wyoming, to attend a meeting here on Oct. 26, at which time arrangements for the exchange of prison-made goods under the supervision of the national recovery act will be worked out. Governors of New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho and Utah were asked to attend or send representative.

What can happen to society at the merciless hands of a brilliant psychologist and scientist crazed with a lust for gold and thrilled with a desire to kill, is the guaranteed jittery theme of the Cliftona Theatre's attraction, the Friday and Saturday, "Before Dawn," RKO-Radio Picture's mystery dramatization of the last Edgar Wallace story featuring Stuart

Will you experiment ONE WEEK to be RID of Constipation FOR LIFE?

Thousands have ended their bowel troubles this way

Get a liquid laxative that can be measured to the drop. Take the amount found to bring a perfect movement. Reduce the dose, as bowels begin to move without help.

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not likely to cure any case of constipation with salts, pills, tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can correct this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

What is a Safe Laxative?
In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know anything about a preparation, ask some doctor about it. Temporary relief that you get from some habit-forming cathartic is very apt to be dearly bought.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescriptional preparation with its ingredients stated on the label. By using it, you avoid bowel strain. You can keep the bowels regular, and comfortable. You can make constipated spells as rare as colds.

The right liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it! And the habitual use of irritating salts, or of powerful drugs

Make the LIQUID TEST:
A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative will prove to you that you are on the right track. A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be as regular as clockwork. The secret is the right laxative, and the right dose. A laxative you can measure, but, and where the dose as the need for help is reduced. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which every druggist keeps ready for use.

NRA: Chiseling continues on a wide scale. Codes to the extent of 135 have been signed, 59 are in effect. Most employers are going to all sorts of lengths to keep from hiring extra help.

The NRA is reaching the interminably tedious task of enforcing its codes, but not doing a great deal about it.

Henry Bruere, Roosevelt's new banking coordinator, has two things of which he is most proud. One is his son, the other is the long list of corporations on which he serves as director.

One day his son, having just graduated from Harvard, went with his father while the latter made the rounds of the great banks and companies on which he serves as director.

"Well, what do you think of it son?" asked old Henry, proudly.

"Piffle," replied the younger. "Just pure piffle."

NOTE—Not long ago, Bruere threatened to cut off his son's expense money if he did not come back from Paris. Young Bruere called his bluff. He told him to go ahead. Next day he got a job running a taxi.

Yolks of four eggs beaten until lemon colored; one half teaspoon salt; one fourth teaspoon paprika; one cup cooked rice; four tablespoons cream; one half cup grated cheese; four egg whites stiffly beaten. Fold in the stiff egg whites to the mixture of yolks, seasoning, rice, cream and cheese, turn into a soufflé dish or baking dish rubbed with shortening. DOUBT STRIKE FEATURE

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 27.—Sentiment for and against the National Farm strike increased sharply today in the rural mid-west, cradle of the militant movement, as added support came from some quarters and stiff opposition developed in others.

The Farmers' Holiday association, which boasted a membership of at least 1,000,000 when it inaugurated the strike last Saturday, continued its campaign for support of the movement but its most spectacular activity, highway picketing, was largely discontinued for the time being.

Additional strike support centered for the most part in Wisconsin. The Wisconsin co-operative milk pool voted to join the strike effort a new Tuesday. On that day it will attempt to halt all milk shipments to Milwaukee and Chicago.

TO ASK EMBARGO

The co-operative's executive committee advised the governor of its decision and asked a state embargo on farm shipments to avoid any violence likely to occur.

The Milwaukee Co-operative Milk Producers' association, on the other hand, voted opposition to the strike.

Sheriff Joseph Shinner, of Milwaukee, said he was preparing to meet possible "trouble." He will assign "as many deputies as necessary" to keep open the highways into the city. He warned strikers that no attempt must be made to prevent non-strikers from trucking their milk into the city.

Wisconsin strikers continued to patrol the highways, intercepting milk shipments destined for market. Several more truck loads were dumped on highways when drivers refused to return home with them. Several additional cheese factories were forced to suspend operations as the strike spread to outlying regions.

The strike also gained some added support in Iowa, where several more produce stations decided to close in sympathy with the movement, but it was also in Iowa that new, powerful opposition developed, from farmers themselves.

CONVOY FORMED

In the vicinity of Council Bluffs, 500 or more farmers formed an anti-strike organization to afford safe convoy to truck enroute to market with farm products. As a result, strike pickets disappeared from the highways in that vicinity.

A Special Salad of Pineapple

SELECT a large ripe pineapple. Rinse off the outside, and do not remove the spikes or leafy-end. Cut the pineapple in half lengthwise, through to the bottom and right on through the spikes.

With a sharp paring knife, cut out the fruit from the interior, leaving a shell of each half. Cut the removed fruit in small cubes. Sprinkle with French dressing and chill in the refrigerator.

The Filling

If seedless white grapes are available, wash them, remove the stems, and cut in halves lengthwise, mix with the pineapple cubes and chill. Otherwise, use large white (canned) cherries, removing the seeds and cutting them in halves. Cut dates in halves, and remove the seeds. Mix altogether; there should be one fourth cup each of the cherries or grapes, and of the dates. When ready to serve, peel four ripe bananas, remove strings and quickly scoop small balls of the ripe pulp; use a small potato scoop or the scoop from the garnishing set. Mix the banana quickly with the other fruit.

Fill the pineapple shells, garnish with small sections of candied orange, and arrange the filled halves side by side, spikes pointing in opposite directions, on a large serving plate. Serve with whipped cream salad dressing (half mayonnaise, half cream, seasoned with lemon juice).

an impressive front. Among the natives he passes for a veritable fount of wisdom.

One evening he walked into the country store and the store-keeper, addressing the congregated loafers about the stove, said: "Now we can find out about it." He turned to the newcomer.

"Say, Doc," he said, "there's a question come up that we want you to settle. I been readin' in the paper here about this here bovine virus that them foreign doctors is usin' now. Just what is bovine virus, anyhow?"

The oracle scarcely hesitated. "Bovine virus," he said, in his most oratorical manner, "derives its name from the man that discovered it—the eminent French scientist, Dr. George W. Bovine."

"There now," said the store-keeper facing the audience, "I told you the Doc would know if anybody did."

Similar organizations were said to be forming in other counties along the Missouri river.

Pickets also were withdrawn from highways around Sioux City. This was at the order of Farmers' Holiday Association officials, who said picketing would be discontinued until the recommendations of a governor's conference, to meet in Des Moines next Monday, are known.
